National Science Day Celebration Report

Date: March 9, 2023

Location: Department of Agriculture, Mewar University, Chittorgarh

Organizer: Department of Science and Technology, Government of Rajasthan

Introduction:

National Science Day is celebrated in India on February 28th each year to commemorate the discovery of the Raman Effect by Sir C.V. Raman. In continuation of this spirit of scientific inquiry and innovation, the Department of Agriculture at Mewar University, Chittorgarh, organized a special event to celebrate National Science Day on March 9, 2023, under the auspices of the Department of Science and Technology, Government of Rajasthan.

Theme: "Innovations in Agriculture: Empowering Sustainable Development"

Activities:

Inaugural Ceremony: The event began with an inaugural ceremony presided over by dignitaries from the Department of Science and Technology, Government of Rajasthan, and the university administration. The significance of National Science Day and the theme for the year were highlighted during the ceremony.

Guest Lectures: Eminent scientists and researchers were invited to deliver guest lectures on various topics related to agricultural innovations and sustainable development. The lectures covered areas such as precision agriculture, biotechnology applications in farming, and climate-smart agriculture practices.

Exhibition: A science exhibition was organized showcasing innovative technologies and research projects in the field of agriculture. Students and faculty members displayed their work on topics such as soil health management, crop diversification, and agro-ecological practices.

Poster Presentation Competition: A poster presentation competition was held for students to showcase their research findings and projects related to agricultural science. Participants presented posters on themes such as genetic engineering in crops, integrated pest management, and renewable energy in agriculture.

Interactive Workshops: Interactive workshops were conducted to engage participants in hands-on learning experiences. Workshops on topics such as hydroponics, organic farming techniques, and drone technology in agriculture were organized to promote practical knowledge and skill development.

Student Symposium: A student symposium provided a platform for undergraduate and postgraduate students to present their research papers and findings. The symposium encouraged young scientists to share their innovative ideas and contribute to the advancement of agricultural science.

Outcomes:

Knowledge Dissemination: The event facilitated the dissemination of knowledge and information on cutting-edge agricultural technologies and research findings among students, faculty, and the wider community.

Inspiration for Innovation: Guest lectures, exhibitions, and workshops inspired participants to explore new avenues for innovation in agriculture and encouraged them to pursue careers in scientific research and development.

Networking Opportunities: The event provided networking opportunities for students, researchers, and professionals to interact with experts in the field of agricultural science and explore potential collaborations and partnerships.

Promotion of Science Education: National Science Day celebrations promoted science education and awareness, emphasizing the role of science and technology in addressing challenges facing agriculture and sustainable development.

Conclusion:

The National Science Day celebration at the Department of Agriculture, Mewar University, was a resounding success, thanks to the collaborative efforts of the Department of Science and Technology, Government of Rajasthan, and the university administration.
