“Beti Bachao Beti Padhao Campaign” Caring for the Girl Child

The Department of Pharmacy, Mewar University organized the event to carry forward and support the “Beti Bacaho Beti Padao Campaign” on 8th March 2019. 56 females and 171 male volunteers attended the program. The Chief Guest for the event was Ms. Vandana Chudawat (Head & Assistant Professor, Department of English. One Poster Competition was organized in which various students of Mewar University along with different students of various schools of nearby location of Gangrar have taken part; the Judge for the competition was Mr. Gulzar Ahmed HOD Physics. The Program ended with a melodious song by girl students of Pharmacy Department for supporting the campaign “Save the Girls Child”.

Girl Education Awareness Programme

Today's girl child will be the mother of tomorrow. As citizens of India women have equal right for education. It is not only just about providing opportunity but a due right to every girl to be educated. To create awareness in this regard department of Management, Mewar University took initiative to spread awareness and word among nearby rural areas. On 15th August 2018, Mewar University with the help of SDM Gangrar organized an awareness program in Gangrar district Chittorgarh. Students from department of Management participated in the program. Through stage performances message was spread away towards educating girl child and importance of education in their life. The response of the crowd gathered was overwhelming. The program was huge success. Local district authorities present appreciated the move and welcomed the idea of spreading the awareness in this regard.

Awareness Programme on Save Girl Child

The existence of human life is impossible without the existence of females on this planet. In many parts of India still orthodox communities are against birth of girl child in their family. Although abortions have reduced considerably because of strict laws and Government initiative of "Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao" campaign still killings in remote parts go unnoticed. Thus to spread awareness in this regard department of Management, Mewar University organized a program on 26th Jan, 2019 at Tehsil Gangrar, District Chittorgarh to spread awareness among rural communities for saving girl child. The students of department of Management through role plays, skits, and dance performances created an environment which was empathetic and heart melting. The crowd was silent and was able to connect with the message that was spread. The program received eye opening response from the crowd and was appreciated by the SDM Gangrar. It ended with vote of thanks given by HOD Management dept.

Awareness program on abolition of Dowry system

India has at since ages suffered from dowry system where brides are supposed to bring in materialistic world along with love and care, what best is to abolish the same completely. In this regard, Mewar University took the initiative and came forward to create awareness among nearby village area Gangrar. One day awareness programme was held in this regard on 16th November, 2018. Students of the University along with faculty members participated in this programme. Through stage performances and street plays students passed on the message of completely abolishing such a practice and accepting females as human beings at the time of marriage and not as a means of financial and materialistic gains. A poster competition was also organized in this regard. Best posted presenter won certificate and prize. The programme was successful as the villagers were able to understand the true meaning and importance of girls. The response of the crowd was overwhelming. Dean Academics appreciated the initiative and contribution made by the students and faculty members alike.
